In the farm program County Agent Oliver L. Adams and George W. Ware gave before the Rotary club Friday it was brought out that the farmer receives for the cotton going into the manufacture of a shirt less money than the laundry gets for washing that shirt just once.

Allied Defeat Is Possible Legion Tells the Legion

Kansas City, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox, saying the submarine still is a major problem in the war, said today that the Allied defeat is possible, and one which would be a disaster to the world.

"We are in the midst, not only of a war unprecedented in scope and size, but likewise a war where defeat is possible," he said in a prepared speech, "and one where defeat is sure to come unless we, as a people, and those associated with this war, comprehend in full measure the threat, and summon the tremendous forces needed for ultimate victory."

"We are intensifying every anti-submarine measure and I am confident that in the long run the monthly total of ships lost will be reduced to a point where it is no longer a threat to the supply lines of ourselves and our allies. Mind you, I say in the long run, the battle will be a long and difficult one."

"There are other problems, equally difficult, which must be solved before victory is won. The problem of supplying raw materials to our war industries, the problem of co-ordinating our efforts with our allies. The problem of supporting Russia. The problem of keeping a flow of munitions to isolated China."

Knox praised the Legion for its long and unwavering support of adequate military preparedness.

"But it will not be enough merely to maintain our armaments after the war," he added. "We must see to it that we work for a peace in which the things for which Hitler and Hitler's Germany, and the things for which the military caste in Japan stand, are utterly vanquished. There can be no compromise."

Dark as he painted the battlefronts, Knox said "the picture is not all black."

"The Russians, in their gallant, steadfast and resolute defense of their homeland, have made the Germans pay a fearful price."

"In the far reaches of the Pacific our victories in the Coral Sea and Midway island, plus the swift growth of our sea power, have restored the unbalance in that area that obtained in the months immediately following the attack on Pearl Harbor."

"Don't mistake me," warned Knox. "Tremendous problems still remain."

Legionnaires Not as Noisy as in the Past

Kansas City, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The American Legion looked a bit lost today—it opened its national convention without all the hoarings of the bygone days.

A solemn atmosphere hung over the convention hall, much to the surprise of some Legionnaires themselves.

They had read that no one was expected to show up except the 1,500 delegates, but for a war they would miss something 14,000 additional came anyway. A lot of them didn't have a place to stay—hotels already were filled with soldiers taking their final training.

Some of the guests who looked for fun but gave up early, convinced Legion officials meant what they said about shearing frills and play for war-time problems.

Rev. W. P. Johnson, President of the American Legion, said today that the Legion was not as noisy as in the past. He said that the Legion was not as noisy as in the past. He said that the Legion was not as noisy as in the past.

Loss of Canadian Vessel Is Announced

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The loss of the Corvete Charlotteville by enemy submarine action, with the commander dead and five of her crew missing, was announced today by Navy Minister Angus Macdonald.

Three other crew members died of injuries.

It was the second Royal Canadian Navy loss reported in the west. Macdonald announced on Monday the loss of the patrol vessel Racoon, with her whole complement of 38 officers and men missing, as well as the sinking by U-boat of four Allied merchantmen.

The Charlotteville's commander was acting Lt. Comm. John Willard Bonner, of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

One officer and 12 other crew members were injured, some gravely.

Bobcats Defeat Smackover in First Game

Local football fans perked up their ears today following the Bobcats' opening game at Smackover last night in which they soundly whipped the Buckaroos 13 to 12 in a non-conference contest.

Doped to lose by a top-sided score to the strong oil-city eleven, the Bobcats held the highly-touted Smackover back, Scott, to a pair of long gains and came from behind to win. Time and again the Bobcat line threw the ankle-ailing Scott for big losses.

However the shifty back broke loose for two touch-down runs of 58 and 15 yards, finally leaving the game in the fourth quarter after lapsing on the field. Both tries for extra point failed.

McCullough, Hope quarterback, was really the offensive star of the game scoring both the Bobcat touchdowns and breaking loose for several nice gains including one 40 yarder. Aided by Huddleston, Wells, and Calhoun, McCullough literally tore the Buck line to pieces for two long touchdowns.

The Cats started the scoring in the first quarter, working the ball from their own 30 to the Smackover 2 with McCullough going over.

A break in the second quarter set up Smackover's first try. McCullough fumbled on his own 30 yard line, a Buckaroo recovering to the 15 where Scott went over.

The third quarter was scoreless but Smackover went ahead in the fourth when Scott broke loose for 58 yards to end his team's scoring and pulled ahead.

Shortly after the Bobcats again took the pigskin on their own 35. McCullough, Calhoun and Huddleston alternated in carrying the ball on a sustained drive to the Smackover three where McCullough again went over for the winning touchdown.

The game got a scrapping bunch of ball players. "They were completely out in the last half and played on guts alone."

Both boys came out of the game in fair shape with the exception of center Stephens who suffered a painful knee injury which might keep him out of the El Dorado contest here Friday night.

It was the second game and the first loss for the Buckaroos who defeated Camden a week earlier. It was the season's opener for the Cats.

Friday night at Hammors' Stadium the Bobcats take on El Dorado in a conference contest. The Wildcats boast one of the strongest line-backers in history and defeated Camden last Thursday night.

Asks for Cost of Ballots for Soldiers

Little Rock, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau asked today the approximate cost of providing general election ballots to Arkansas men in the land and naval forces.

Hall asked Morgenthau for a copy of the bill authorizing federal payment to the states of the cost of printing, ballots, booklets, envelopes and other supplies for absentee voting by men in the armed services.

Arkansas permits absentee voting by qualified electors but voters must write their home counties for ballots. The new federal law permits soldier voting without payment of poll tax, a provision that would make all Arkansas men over 21 in the services eligible to vote.

Hall said interest in the general elections in this state normally was so slight that if normal procedure followed he thought few soldiers would ask for absentee ballots.

Bombers Blast Japanese Push on Port Moresby

—War in Pacific

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Sept. 19.—(AP)—For the second successive day Flying Fortresses and other Allied aircraft yesterday blasted the Japanese bases in New Guinea and New Britain from which supplies and reinforcements are sent to enemy forces now being held in check by Australian troops only 32 air-line miles from Port Moresby.

Flying Fortresses made a harassing night raid on Rabaul, New Britain—also an important Japanese base for operations in the Solomon Islands—and started fires visible for 50 miles, an allied communique reported. Salamaua, Lae and Buna in New Guinea were also attacked.

The most immediate supply point on the Japanese now trying to push down the south side of the Owen Stanley range toward the Allied base at Port Moresby is at Buna on the northeast New Guinea coast. Allied fighters swooped down on Japanese transport and supply facilities there and poured burst after burst of machinegun and cannon fire into them.

A reconnaissance unit, surveying the effect of Thursday's attack on the port, reported 27 burned barges, coast, on the northeast New Guinea coast. Further up the New Guinea coast at Salamaua and Lae, heavy bombers started "numerous fires," the communique said.

Fighting on the road to Port Moresby yesterday was described in the communique as minor and apparently as still centered in the vicinity of the village of Ioribaiwa on the south side of the range. The patrol presumably was limited to the back of the line.

Both a highway and railroad connect Brickville and Tananarive and it presumably was to gain access to these strategic communications that the British put the new defense ashore today. The French described it as composed of light units.

There was no immediate report from Vichy on the progress of British forces pushing toward Tananarive from four landings on the west coast.

don said, however, that the methodical occupation of Madagascar was proceeding and that one British column advancing from Majunga, on the west coast, was less than 60 miles from Tananarive.

This informant said there was a possibility that French forces might be concentrating at the capital for a stand but that at present resistance was negligible and only a few British casualties had been suffered.

A mysterious station identifying itself as "France Libre D'Outre Mer"—Free France of the Farther Sea—was heard at Port Louis, Mauritius, vigorously assailing the Vichy government's defense policy in Madagascar.

Accounts of this broadcast relayed from the nearby British island of Mauritius said the mystery station urged Madagascan citizens to demand that Armand Annet, governor-general of the island, disavow British armistice terms which he had accepted.

The station expressed doubt that French troops were willing to continue the fight as Annet was exhorting them to do.

Countering this broadcast, a French station, apparently located somewhere in Madagascar, poured out a high-pitched stream of anti-British propaganda.

French Party Head Escapes to Britain

—Europe

London, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Charles Vallin, vice president of the old French Rightist party, Croix De Feu (Cross of Fire), and one-time minister of the Vichy regime, has arrived in London and joined the Fighting French. The Fighting French headquarters announced tonight.

He was accompanied in escape from occupied France by Pierre Brasseur, former foreign editor of the socialist newspaper, Le Populaire.

The escape together of these two men of directly opposite leanings in pre-war French politics was described by a Fighting French spokesman as "the best illustration yet that we are receiving men of all parties as long as they agree on one essential — to fight the Germans."

The spokesman declared exultantly that "Vichy once considered the Red Army as a 'savior'." He added that his chief French were confident that the 100,000 members would follow Vallin in opposing the Vichy regime.

"All German attempts to capture this valuable position have failed," he said. "At least two other assaults by massed Nazi tanks and troops were repulsed in the smoke-shrouded city itself and in the northwestern outskirts, and as the struggle raged into its 26th day the Soviet High Command announced that the Red Army had captured the city."

German field headquarters reported tersely that the battle was being "successfully continued" in the face of stubborn enemy resistance and declared that a strong diversionary attack by tanked Soviet infantry north of Stalingrad "collapsed with severe losses to the enemy."

This was the first intimation that Soviet Marshal Semenov Timoshenko may have launched a powerful flanking movement to sweep around the Nazi siege armies.

The German high command said Russian troops which managed to penetrate Nazi positions in the divisionary attack were annihilated and 100 Soviet tanks destroyed.

Significantly, Hitler's headquarters claimed no specific gains in Stalingrad, and Russian dispatches said the Red Army had yielded no further ground in the city.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said many streets were littered with German dead, and 400 bodies in gray-green uniforms were counted on the laws along one street.

Other reports said Nazi paratroopers were dropping in the city and that many German troops and German tanks were camouflaged as Russian tanks even bearing Red Army insignia.

Fresh Soviet reserves, trained in Siberia, were reported pouring into the battle in high spirits, bolstered by weary veterans who were now within hours of matching the historic defense record of Sevastopol, where the Russian held out for 27 days against the German's climactic Crimean offensive.

Behind the bitter hand-to-hand and street-to-street fighting in the city, Soviet headquarters reported "fierce actions" in the northwestern outskirts as Nazi Marshal Guderian on Bock sent perhaps 450,000 troops storming against the Soviet front line.

"On one sector where the Hitlerites concentrated large infantry and tank forces, they succeeded in the cost of heavy losses in taking possession of several streets," the Russian command said, referring to this area.

"Part of the lost positions were retrieved in the course of the day. All through the night, dispatches said, the battle surged in an inferno of burning buildings, exploding bombs and the din of cannon, snarl of machinegun fire. Thousands of German warplanes unloaded tons of bombs on the ruined Volga metropolises.

Front-line dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet Army newspaper, said the Germans made a furious attempt to capture strategic heights which command the center of the city and important traffic arteries.

Nazi planes loosed hundreds of bombs in a 45-minute "softening up" attack. Then Nazi automatic rifle men, led by 50 tanks, swarmed up the hill and drove the Russians from some positions.

Soviet troops counterattacked, however, and regained their positions after hours of savage hand-to-hand fighting.

Izvestia said the Germans were fortifying houses as swiftly as they moved up, digging ditches and erecting street barricades.

In the central Caucasus, the situation once more reached a critical stage as the Germans stepped up the fury of their drive toward the Terek river valley toward the German oil fields and the Caspian sea.

Soviet headquarters said the Germans launched a series of attacks east of Moxdok, and although 900 Nazis were reported killed, there was no claim that the thrust had been stopped.

Nazi troops high command said fortified mines and strongly fortified positions in the Moxdok sector and drove the Russians from several dominating heights.

Other developments:

Air war: Soviet warplanes of the Baltic fleet raided an unidentified port in or near German-occupied Denmark, the Russians announced, and left five big fires raging.

RAF bombers and fighters scattered mines in enemy waters, attacked railways in Nazi-occupied France, the British air ministry announced.

No German night raiders disappeared.

Death-Stand Red Troops Retake Many Positions

Stalingrad, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A five-hour battle for a hill commanding the heart of Stalingrad, and as the struggle raged into its 26th day the Soviet High Command announced that the Red Army had captured the city.

"All German attempts to capture this valuable position have failed," he said. "At least two other assaults by massed Nazi tanks and troops were repulsed in the smoke-shrouded city itself and in the northwestern outskirts, and as the struggle raged into its 26th day the Soviet High Command announced that the Red Army had captured the city."

Jap Envoy to Russia Said Recalled Today

—Washington

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The German radio broadcast today a Tokyo dispatch saying that the first secretary of the Japanese embassy at Kuibyshev, Russia, had been recalled for consultation. The dispatch said the Japanese ambassador, Baron Goro, was a specialist in the diplomatic relations between Japan and the Soviet Union.

Miyakawa was a specialist in the diplomatic relations between Japan and the Soviet Union. He was recalled for consultation. The dispatch said the Japanese ambassador, Baron Goro, was a specialist in the diplomatic relations between Japan and the Soviet Union.

The Russians protested to him when a Soviet gunboat was sunk in a clash with Japanese forces on the Amur river June, 1937. Then test in Moscow Japan's counter-protest.

Niyakawa delivered another formal protest in March, 1938, over the activities of Russian troops in Siberia and in September, 1938, concluded negotiations with the Russian foreign office after a Russian Japanese clause in Suihenko, 250 miles north of Changkufeng on the Siberian - Korean - Manchurian border where fighting occurred at about the same time.

Congress Has Finally Found a Defender

—Washington

By JACK STINNETT
Washington

Congress has finally found itself an A-No. 1 defender.

With election just around the corner and the Boys on the Hill still bubbling over the coals that have been heaped on their heads this spring and summer, the time, to say the least, was ripe.

The Champion of the 77th Congress is the Legislative Reference Service of the Library of Congress. Since the Library of Congress really belongs to Congress, and since the Legislative Reference Service is just what the name implies—that section of the Library that secures the records of the Congress for all the members have to have at their fingertips—the results in this instance are slightly suspect.

Nevertheless, Ernest S. Griffith, the LRS director, and his staff certainly have done a job. In a 38-page single-spaced mimeographed monograph, entitled "The War Record of Congress," they've given the Boys on the Hill a pat time the likes of which has rarely been given to Congress by congressmen themselves.

Starting off with the statement: "The record of the 77th Congress in supplying the shew of LRS points out that since 1933, the Congress has appropriated three billion dollars more for the army and one billion more for the navy than the President has requested in his budget messages. Quoting the report released by the Missouri Congress that this Congress is 'writing in the conduct of this war one of the brightest chapters of American history.'"

After that, the LRS really gets down to business. It documents its claims about budget requests and bigger appropriations for the army and navy. It itemizes its $1,025,000,000 slash in non-defense expenditures, principally through the committee heads for the navy, Flood Byrd, of Virginia.

It tends a knee to Chairman Andrew J. May's House military affairs committee; to Chairman Carl Vinson's House naval affairs investigation committee (which uncovered the excess profits in naval contracts and caused many companies to kick back millions of dollars to offer to renegotiate contracts; and to Rep. Ross Collins, an ardent champion of a mechanized army, flying Fortresses, and a powerful air force.

It lists the accomplishments of the Truman committee in uncovering many flaws and frauds in the defense program.

3 Operations Underway at Midway Field

By Special Correspondent

Stamps, Ark., Sept. 18.—Three new operations got under way this morning at Midway field of Lafayette County. These are Arkansas Fuel Oil Company's No. 2 SE Section 12-15-24 which is now drilling ahead below 1000 feet. Woodrow Oil Company's No. 3 NE Section 10-15-24 in section 18-15-24 was waiting on cement at 543 feet. That company also was preparing to spud in at its Hodnett No. 3 NE same section and was clearing out and building roads to its Hodnett No. 4 SE NW of the same section.

Barnsdall Oil Company has only one active drilling operations in the area of this county where three operations near the Payson. They are Atlantic Refining Company's Carter Oil Company's Charlie McClendon No. 1 in section 36-17-23 was below 8300 feet and Riddle Petroleum Corporation's Layne-Olive Unit No. 1 in section 31-17-23 drilled below 7400 feet.

Work progresses slowly on the McKamee gas cleaning plant being erected in the field by the Carter and Atlantic Oil Companies. The site has been cleared and drainage effected and a railroad spur constructed. Pipe was being unloaded on the site this week, and it is hoped by citizens living in that vicinity that actual construction of the plant will begin soon.

Gas which has been declared of high purity and life as well as vegetation for miles around, as it is allowed to burn in flares.

Blytheville Slayer Dies From Stroke

Tucker Prison Farm, Sept. 18

—Benjamin R. Hargrove, 28, who failed in two suicide attempts last spring after killing his wife, died in the prison hospital yesterday.

Hargrove suffered a "stroke" while working in the vegetable garden crew late Thursday and died Friday, Warden Lee Linsley said.

Arrested by Policeman Richard Potter, who was called with two other officers to a Blytheville beauty shop in connection with an altercation involving Hargrove and his wife, Hargrove shot the policeman, dashed back into the shop and shot his wife, Lillian, 26, then shot himself in the chest. The shootings occurred March 23.

Hospitalized at Blytheville, Hargrove leaped from a second story window and then slashed his wrists with glass.

He was convicted May 21 and sentenced to life imprisonment for the death of his wife. The murder charge for slaying Potter was pleaded indefinitely. Hargrove was committed temporary insanity.

Type: Blonde.
Year: 21.

Ship Strike Is Ended by Arbitration

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 19.—(AP)

Leaving their dispute over a five-cent ferry charge to arbitration before the Federal Maritime Commission, thousands of shipyard workers returned to their jobs today at the Alabama Drydock and Shipbuilding company after a two-day lay-off.

Brig-Gen. Ben M. Smith, in command of five companies of state troops on patrol here, said approximately 60 percent of a normal working crew reported for duty this morning. This figure is near the usual number for Saturday work, he said. Some 10,000 workers left their jobs before the settlement was reached.

Prior to Thursday the shipbuilding concern maintained fierce ferry service. Most of the workers today reached their jobs through the Bankhead tunnel to Pinto Island.

Brig. Gen. Smith said "the situation has been quiet for 24 hours and we look for no more trouble."

The troops, however, remain at their posts at the City Hall, the courthouse and about the company's shipyards.

County Co-op Files

Little Rock, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Six county farm cooperatives sponsored by the Farm Security Administration filed notice of capitalization and issuance of stocks to members today.

The co-ops and amount of capitalization included:

Air Raid Drills Monotonous in the Big Cities

(Second of Two Stories)
By JACK STINNETT

Washington — The air raid drills are getting a little monotonous in many cities. Almost any honest civilian defense official will tell you that that is one of the commonest complaints he hears.

But from now on, it's a complaint that will be heard much less often in many sections. The Civil Air Patrol is providing the "kicker" that takes all the dullness out of them.

Already in Worcester, Mass., and Birmingham, Ala., the CAP has given the bomb-droppers, the firemen and police, the auxiliary firemen and police, the first aid station workers and the ambulance drivers something to think about.

They have "bombed" the day lights out of military objectives and civilian targets in those two cities and in both cases the experiment has proved so successful that many cities in danger zones may get a taste of it soon.

Details of the "bombing" of Worcester and Birmingham now are being spread on the news by Maj. Sarle L. Johnson, national commander of the CAP, and under his direction plans are being perfected for giving other strategic cities a taste of what they might expect if the enemy got tough with long range bombers.

In Birmingham, 50 CAP planes of the Alabama Wing, loaded with bags of sawdust bombs (the CAP used two-pound sacks of flour in the experiment) but after they had knocked a few civilians on the noggin, they switched to sawdust) descended on the city from all directions.

No Flying Fortress raid on Germany? Japan could have been more thoroughly worked over. Each pilot, working from gridded maps, had his objective and the red sacks (for incendiaries) and the yellow sacks (for demolition bombs) that rained on Birmingham had no doubt in the minds of public and civilian defense workers alike that it could happen here.

War plants were wrecked. The homes of workers were blasted in a sawdust shower. One big apartment building was blown half away and rescue crews evacuated the "dead" and "wounded." Ambulances rushed the latter to first aid stations and hospitals.

Fire fighting crews battled the "incendiaries."

And according to reports, Birmingham and Worcester got a taste of what it might be like.

It's one thing in a blackout to turn out the lights and go to bed and forget about it. It's quite another

Lowly Phils to Try to Knock Off Brooklyn

By JACK SMITH
Philadelphia, Sept. 18 —(AP)—That feud between the cellar-dwelling Phils and the almost-mighty Dodgers is cropping up again — and don't be surprised if the lowly fellows blast the Bums' last glimmering hopes for the National League pennant in the series opening in Brooklyn today.

They're not talking about it publicly, but it's common knowledge here that Manager Hans Lobert's much-maligned losers are still ranked by the "slight," as they call it, which they suffered at the hands of Larry MacPhail last spring. MacPhail called off a Phils-Dodgers exhibition game, presumably because the Phils might bring in much cash. The Phils had their day, later, of course, when Lobert refused to let the Bums near his spring training diamond for another exhibition fray.

But the fullest sweetest revenge would be a Phils' sweep in the closing series, squelching the Dodgers in their losing battle for a crack at World Series money.

They might do it, too. Don't laugh yet, the cellar-dwellers have a habit of reviving in the closing days of a season long enough to whip clubs in reach of the pennant. They did it with the Giants a few years back, and won the nickname, "The Giant Killers."

ther to see a yellow bag hurtling into your front yard and realize that if that were a bomb, it would mean an end of life for you and yours. It's something else, too, to have a red "incendiary" thud on the roof and realize that if it were real, only your own training and the speedy action of the fire fighters in your neighborhood could save your home from the ash heap.

These simulated bombings of strategic cities in the coastal and border areas are just a little sideline the Civil Air Patrol has worked up in its none too spare time. Officials here think you'll find they may prove a more valuable stimulus to air raid defense than anything that has been devised.

Says U.S. Will Strike at Japan Proper, Not Outposts

BY DOWITT MACKENZIE

Former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, in declaring yesterday at Syracuse that the Japs are tougher than the Germans, and will fight until utterly crushed, is trying to hammer home a truth which only recent days has begun to register widely in this country.

We started this war with a good many people suffering from the old ideas about Nippon's vulnerability. Back at the time of Pearl Harbor a reader of this column wrote me a letter which was rather typical of a lot of current comment. He intimated my statement that the Japanese were hard eggs, and bragged:

"I've lived in the Orient and know my Japs. I'm only five feet four, but I never saw the day when I couldn't lick half a dozen of them, one hand tied behind my back."

Now along comes Mr. Grew, who served as our representative among these barbarians for a decade, to say that they "will not crack morally or psychologically or economically" and that "only by the utter physical destruction or utter exhaustion of their men and materials can they be defeated."

At the same time we are getting from the steaming jungle battlefields of the southwest Pacific islands grim proof of the fanatical willingness of the Mikado's men to die.

When our Marines made their daringly successful invasion of Guadalcanal, not one of the many hundreds of Japs who were holding this island surrendered. Each went down in death, either fighting or after they had only three pistol bullets left, whereupon one of them shot his two comrades and then turned the gun upon himself.

Yes, the worshippers of the Rising Sun will take a lot of beating. What is the basic strategy which will give best results? Let's get at it this way:

The heart of Nippon's strength, in all categories, lies in the home-land. — Japan proper. There are her arsenals, her manpower, her financial resources, in short, those things which make her the power she is. Now all this is contained within an area of 148,756 square miles — about the size of Montana. And the borders aren't guarded by other territories, but only by the sea.

So the strength of this primitive Samson is localized. We don't have to overrun a territory the size of Australia — a mighty task for any nation — to do our stint. We don't have to conquer all the Japanese conquests as a preliminary. Our primary task is to cut Samson's locks, whereupon his big body will lose its power.

Therefore I believe that when the major offensive against the empire gets under way, it will strike primarily at the heart of the empire — Japan proper — rather than the idea of reclaiming the hodge-podge of Nipponese conquests piecemeal in order to reach the homeland.

The allied objective is, or should be, to assume, to fight in Japan proper. We shall approach this operation by first bombing Hell out of that neatly arranged concentration of resources. We shall pulverize the island's industries and transportation system, and what remains until finally we are ready to put an Army ashore for the kill.

Once Japan proper is conquered, the rest of the ill-gotten empire will succumb. That doesn't mean there won't be much fighting out there. Japan proper will be the going on right now. But our main task will be done when we have just about wiped the Mikado's kingdom off the map.

RAF's Coastal Planes Bomb German Docks

London, Sept. 18.—(AP)—While the weather shielded Germany proper from air attack last night, planes of the RAF's coastal command bombed docks at Bordeaux, German-held port and submarine base of southern France on the Bay of Biscay.

Preceding the assault Beaufighters of the same command, on patrol over the Bay of Biscay yesterday, destroyed three enemy bombers and lost one of their own numbers, the air ministry's communique said.

Considerable damage and some casualties were reported from Britain's own coast when at least four Nazi planes strafed a southwest port with bombs and machine-gun fire on a daylight sweep.

British anti-aircraft guns downed one enemy fighter off the coast in the same region during the morning and home guardsmen captured four German airmen who bailed out of a bomber destroyed over Britain during the night.

Southeastern Europe was kept in a high state of jitter last night by an air raid scare in Sofia and by reports that mysterious balloons laden with explosives were drifting over Hungary.

Hungarians were warned of the presence of the balloons by the Budapest radio, but the broadcast gave no hint as to where they had come from or whether they were causing any damage.

The Vichy news agency later reported that the balloons were trailing explosive or incendiary material on long cables, which appeared to be intended to catch in telephone and high tension wires.

The air raid scare in Sofia was disclosed when the radio there shut down abruptly in the midst of a broadcast after the announcer had shouted excitedly:

"Air raid warning. Bulgarians keep calm."

The scare was aggravated by tension created by Russian protests over a raid which Bulgarian police allegedly made last Tuesday on the Soviet consulate in the Black Sea port of Varna. The Moscow radio said a number of outrages had been committed, including the theft of consulate funds, Russia and Bulgaria still maintain diplomatic relations, although Bulgaria is an Axis member.

bled Britain.

The British disclosed that the RAF now was using giant four-ton "block-buster" bombs to scourge German cities, and some observers declared it was the war's deadliest weapon.

The British air ministry said the huge missiles — nearly three times bigger than Germany's heaviest bombs — were dropped in the raid on Karlsruhe, Sept. 2, when 270 acres of the city were destroyed, and on Duesseldorf.

Battle of Egypt — Axis reports indicated that a break might be imminent in the two-week-old lull on the El Alamein front, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

Italian headquarters, reporting a burst of British activity, said the Axis inflicted heavy losses on tanked British troop columns making "exploratory thrusts" in the southern sector of the 35-mile front.

The Germans, likewise, hinting that something might be developing, said German and Italian forces carried out "continuous" bombing and machine-gunning attacks on British tank reserves and motorized columns yesterday.

But British G.H.Q. said land operations were confined to artillery duels.

Few Increases of Rent to Be Granted

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today granted area rent directors discretionary authority to issue temporary orders covering certain "clear-cut" cases in which landlords have petitioned for rent increases.

The granting of these increases, Henderson emphasized, would be conditional upon the landlord's agreement to refund to the tenant any amount received in excess of the rent ceiling finally established by OPA.

Officials said Henderson's action would expedite disposition of a number of petitions, in which landlords present clearly-defined reasons for asking rent adjustments. Otherwise, action on these might be delayed pending inspection of the living quarters concerned.

Lunt's warm feeling for the university and the people of Madison accounts for this westerner. Once here, he premiered one of his shows there, and he plays Madison on his tours.

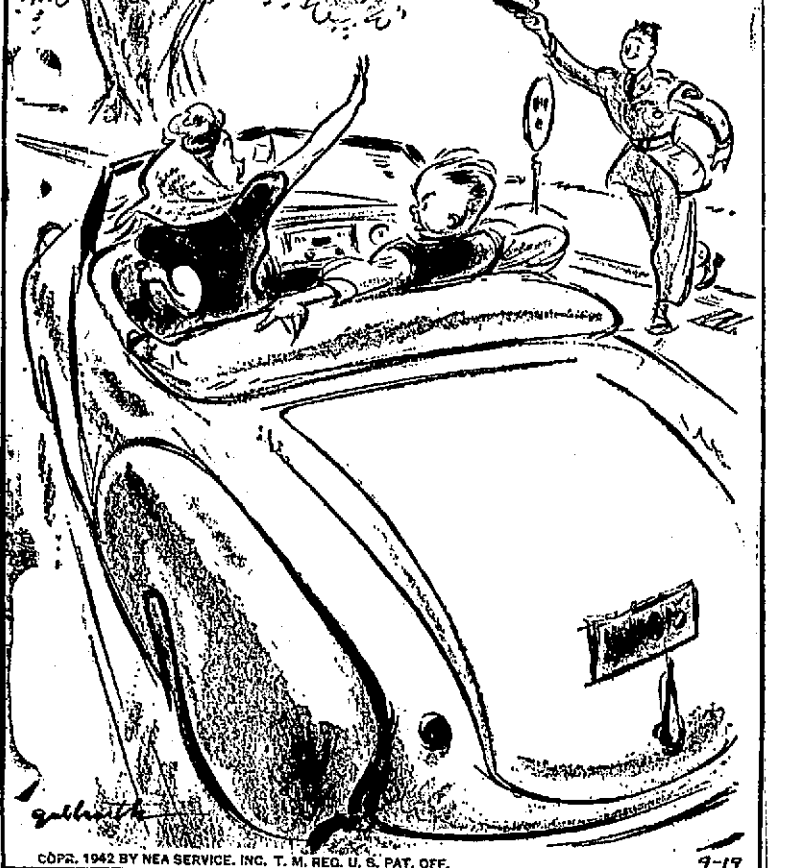

A note on Lunt and Fontaine at rehearsals: They have a rule that by the end of the second week of rehearsals they always put away their scripts and go on from there on their own. They feel a fortnight is long enough to master any role. However, some of Lunt's scenes are being rewritten, and Lunt is as nervous as a cat. He is always nervous until the time he is hurled into an empty corner.

Those who have missed Francis Robinson, who represented Katharine Cornell after the late beloved Ray Henderson fell to his death in the Aegean sea, will find him in the navy doing recruiting work in New Orleans.

I saw Madge Evans with her husband, Sgt. Sidney Kingsley at a benefit the other night, and she was prettier than ever I saw her on the screen. Kingsley, who wrote "How to Succeed in the End," has found time between his army activities to complete a new play based on the life of Thomas Jefferson. This is soon to be produced in cooperation with the Playwrights Company.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Irregular lower tendencies crept up among leading stocks today as the market concluded a good recovery week.

Hesitancy was attributed partly to some profit cashing on the recovery which got under way Monday, but also to the desire of many customers to lighten commitments as a week-end protection. Fears that Stalin would be unable to hold in the face of heavier assaults by the Nazis also contributed to a little more bearishness in boardrooms. The tax question and working out of anti-inflation regulations persisted as brakes on bidding.

The list presented a spotty ap-

Materials May Slow Power Plant Project

Little Rock, Sept. 18.—(AP)—President Samuel H. Husbands of the Defense Plant Corporation said here today there was a question whether two units of the 130,000-kilowatt power plant at the Lake Catherine aluminum plant would be completed because of difficulty in obtaining turbines and other machinery requiring critical materials.

He said that two fibercut units generating 65,000 k.w. direct current probably would be completed in about 60 days to supplement alternating current being supplied by a 10-utility power pool and the REA-financed Ark-La cooperative.

The two which will be delayed are alternating current units which generate electricity with steam turbines. Diesel units generate direct current without turbines.

Until the alternating current units are delayed, the power pool and REA will continue to fill power requirements for the plant, he said.

Husbands, who came to Arkansas with Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum co-ordinator, and W. Alton Jones, president of Cities Service Oil Company and the War Emergency Pipe Line, Inc. to inspect the 530-mile oil pipeline being constructed through Arkansas, said he would visit the aluminum plant tomorrow.

Whether the Arkansas aluminum plant would be utilized after the war, he said, depended upon demand for the metal. Aluminum production has increased seven times since start of the war, he said.

Husbands said there was a possibility other warplants in Arkansas may be converted after the war. Private companies have options on all war plants except those manufacturing the light metals aluminum and magnesium, he reported.

Rubber Chief Plans Tires for Civilians

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—This country's essential vehicles, civilian as well as military, are going to have some form of rubber and plenty of it, the new boss of that department promises—and he indicates it won't be long in coming.

William M. Jeffers, in his first press interview since becoming the nation's rubber administrator Tuesday, asserted yesterday the production of synthetic rubber would be started swiftly, in accordance with known processes, while a search for improvement continued on the side.

He said plants to turn out the synthetic product would be rushed to completion, and their output stepped up to any required degree.

"You can't take America off of wheels," declared Jeffers. "You lose the war doing that because of the misconception it would cause in our economy."

He asserted that when his new job's problems were "all pulled together," he was going to say "some pretty sharp things."

"My notion," he continued, "is to get the mystery out of this tremendous job; to get on the table, and get the job done."

Jeffers, president of the Union Pacific railroad, came to New York to confer with Bernard M. Baruch, head of the committee which reported on the rubber situation for President Roosevelt. Baruch said Jeffers' appointment was "a very constructive step forward."

British Are Using 4-Ton Explosives

London, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A giant four-ton bomb designed to smash steel and concrete buildings and shatter lighter structures for blocks has already been used to blight German cities. It was disclosed today, the British air ministry said, that the British air force had used the "war's deadliest weapon" in Karlsruhe, 270 acres were laid waste and more than a square mile of Duesseldorf was wrecked when the giant bombs were employed Sept. 2, the air ministry said. Thousands of fire bombs were showered

U. S. Subs Get 4 Jap Ships, Cripple Others

Washington, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Navy announced yesterday that United States submarines operating in the western Pacific had sunk four enemy ships and damaged four others in recent actions.

A communique said:

"(A) Two large freighters sunk.

"(B) One medium-sized freighter sunk.

"(C) One small patrol boat sunk.

"(E) One large freighter damaged.

"(F) One large transport damaged.

"(G) One medium-sized cargo ship damaged."

"These actions have not been announced in any previous Navy department communique, and are not related to operations in the eight ships raised to a total of 107 types which the Navy here has reported sunk or damaged by American submarine attack."

El Dorado, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The Arkansas Oil and Gas Commission will hold a hearing at Texarkana September 23 on field rules for the newly-opened gas condensate area in Miller county and for the new London field in Union county.

The Commission also will fix allowances for all controlling points. The office of petroleum co-ordinator is expected to be represented.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. in the city hall court room.

The four-ton bombs were said to have been perfected after months of research. A large bomber then carried one of the bombs to Germany and dropped it over an area not previously attacked. Aerial photographs were taken to show the effect of the bomb.

Only a few types of the largest bombers are able to life the new bombs off the ground.

British officials were tight-lipped on details of the bomb and refused to permit even vague descriptions.

Arkansas Has Material to Win Grid Title

Fayetteville, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Fans called him lucky George Cole when he played halfback for the University of Arkansas 15 years ago.

Today, the chubby, affable, 36-year-old Cole is head coach of his alma mater's football team, without stretching his legs, claim the hard-luck championship of the Southwest Conference.

They have lost many last minute decisions and hold some sort of record for leading their opponents in first downs but failing in the all-important scoring department.

But Cole, who starred at Princeton as head coach on the eye of fall training, says the Razorbacks' hard luck days have been forgotten and he hopes to pass on to the Red and White his record of never failing to recover his own fumbles during his college playing days.

The material appears to be there for Arkansas to march out to the wilderness into whose depths the Razorbacks sank last season by not winning a single conference game.

But even if the Razorbacks don't, there will be some interesting tennions for their opponents up here in the Ozarks—and elsewhere — says the guy who sparks the offense.

If they beat us," drawled B-o (Chic) Forte, who tripled the halfback and co-captain, "they'll beat after it's over that they've played two games in the same afternoon."

Forte will be ably assisted in the Arkansas backfield by Wilson Matthews, husky blocker who also carries signals; Max Saltings, shifty wingback who can pass; Frank Delmonico, linebucker and plunger; David Paul Jones, a triple-threat who will push Forte for tailback honors; Wayne Marshall, tricky sophomore wingback, and Meredith (Cotton) Jones, a distance kicker.

Right now the porters could use more speed in the backfield but their new formation—a single wing with man in motion—offers some quick getaways for the backs.

Forte, the Jones boys and Saltings will have some hard-fought fast winners at which to aim their asses and Red Johnson, Ben Jones and Tibbitts and Herman Lubker can snag them. Jones is a sophomore and Lubker a transfer.

Forte, B-o, P. Jones and Meredith Jones will do most of the kicking with D. P. very good at placing the cubs so dangerous safety men can't grab them in.

There will be veterans galore in the line of the line, including Co-captain, Clifton Wynne, who was shifted from the backfield to Green and Jay Lawhorn at tackles; Paul Paladino, David Scarborough and Eugene Golden at guards, and Harry Carter at center.

The Razorbacks' starting forward wall will average 207 pounds and the backfield will average 186.

Civil Patrol Is Hanging Up a Good Record

By JACK STINNETT
Washington — Without fear of contradiction from the Army, Navy or war industries, it may be said that the Civil Air Patrol is hanging up the most remarkable record of any of the civilian defense groups.

There now are nearly 59,000 volunteers in the CAP; probably close to 15,000 planes; perhaps 30,000 pilots and almost an equal number of mechanics, radio engineers, and sundry office and air base ground workers. Their story can't be half told until this war is over. Wartime censorship has the CAP coastal patrol wrapped in clouds. A dozen other phases of CAP activity are behind the veil of military secrecy—but the stories that can be written are exciting enough.

CAP pilots are more completely "on the record" than those in the military air forces. Their cards on file here in Washington are mementoes of individual case histories. There is hardly a thing in their professional, amateur, public and private lives that is overlooked and records go into one of those incomprehensible sorting machines.

The other day, the Army called Maj. Earle L. Johnson, CAP national commander, "We need said the general on the line, "30 pilots between 35 and 45 who can lead 2,000 planes in the air, and are willing to serve somewhere in the Orient."

Major Johnson passed the word along. The keys of the magic sorting machine were punched and out came the bill. The military who filled the bill. The general said simply: "Pick 30; enlist them as captains and wire me for orders and transportation."

That request of the CAP was all tailwind and no headwind. Take the one, for example, that came through recently for four pilots who had more than 2,000 hours in the air, could fly twin motor planes and amphibians, and could speak Spanish fluently. The sorting machine did its work and up came 18. The four pilots are now serving "somewhere south of the Rio Grande."

war production; and of the Tolan committee which made a study of interstate migration of war workers and of the evacuation of enemy aliens from strategic areas.

In heavily documented paragraphs, it clears the skirts of Congress of any mud flung up along the Alaskan highway. It shows how Congress had NO part or responsibility in the lack of fortifications at Guam; in the failure to get oil pipelines to the eastern seaboard; in the rubber shortage; or in the troubles that now beset small business.

It is truly a remarkable document—one that every student and participant in democratic government should have close at hand.
